

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., JUNE 12, 1884.

The California Democrats have declared for Tilden.

Are you a plumed Knight? Don't all speak at once.

The Nicholls County delegates were given a public reception on their return home from Winchester.

Nevada Democrats favor the old ticket and unrestricted silver coinage, and demand the exclusion of the Chinese.

The House of Representatives has voted to adjourn June 30. The Senate will have to act upon the resolution.

The New York Congressional districts have selected Tilden delegates to Chicago. The selections were made with great unanimity.

The Boston Herald and the Advertiser pronounce the nomination of Blaine a notoriously unfit one and declare uncompromising opposition to it.

CONGRESSMAN LYMAN, independent Republican of Massachusetts, says that the Democrats have only to nominate a good man and their success is assured.

Nast, of Harper's Weekly, is sharpening his pencil for the benefit of Mr. Blaine, and some very interesting things may be expected from that source.

A WASHINGTON special says: "Blaine will make a personal canvass, taking the stamp in New York, Ohio, Indiana, North Carolina and West Virginia."

The Tennessee colored delegates to Chicago are in trouble. They are charged with offering to take bribes, and several of them are threatened with lynching.

RIDDELL will receive the solid vote of the Democracy of this country. The Democrats who opposed his nomination, without exception will give him their warm support.

The New York Herald says the Republicans will be sorry before November for "their fearful blunder" in nominating Blaine, and advise, the Democrats to nominate Tilden or Cleveland to insure success.

A MEETING of the district committee will be held at Lexington on the 23d instant to fix the time and place for holding the convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for Judge of the Superior Court in the third district.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS, Carl Schurz and other independent Republicans have called a meeting a New York for Tuesday night. They will make a protest against the nomination of Blaine, and will volunteer suggestions to the coming Democratic Convention.

Mary Anderson, after a successful tour in the English provinces, will spend the summer in Italy. Her next season in London will be in conjunction with Mr. Terries.

No Typical American Woman. That typical American woman does not exist for the term is altogether too general in its application. To characterize a typical New England, Western or Southern woman would be less difficult to bring within the range of possibilities; but in its female types the United States is unique among the nations of the world. The fact is that the so-called "typical American" too often understood by foreigners to be representative of the nation in general, combines, at the most, characteristics only of certain localities—Boston, New York.

There will be a vacancy for maid of honor in Queen Victoria's household in consequence of the marriage of the Hon. Victoria Buxton, who, in accordance with the custom, will receive a present of £1,000 from her Majesty. The list of candidates for these posts is always kept but there are very few names on it just now. When the Queen and Prince Albert visited Plymouth in 1842, Lady Blessing, who had just given birth to a son, went away with the Queen. One of them was anxious to be offered a court appointment, such offer, of course, being practically equivalent to a command, and refused being presented as a piece of gross ingratitude, not to say an impertinence.

The Fashions.

Brooklyn Eagle.

There is a strong probability that poplin will again come to the front in the fall.

Among fashionable combinations in colors its gray and terra cotta. Designs in terra cotta on a gray silk ground are in rich fabrics and are used for parts of costumes.

The acrobatic plating is now executed in place of oriental lace, with trimming to match, and is very beautiful and effective over silk for summer costumes, and affords an opportunity for handsome toilets at little expense.

A pretty traveling dress is made of electric blue silk, with a small mantilla of the same, trimmed with pinked lace, and a gay straw bonnet with a plumed feather, and large bows of sun ribbon fastened with steel diamond needles.

Detached figures, or large figures of any kind, are now fashionable in carpets. The colors should be soft and well blended, the figures inconspicuous and so lost in each other as to make it difficult to separate them. Small figures are sometimes used for small sitting or bed-room

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The Spring Committee deferred until Friday the examination of Merrick, counsel for the Star Case.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Dornheimer, the Senate bill extending the term of the act of August 8, 1862, to encourage the growth of foreign commerce between the United States and Europe—August 8, 1862, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Holman made a point of order against the Hennepin Canal clause, claiming that it should have been reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Mr. Stone replied that the message of the Senate, in other papers in the House, had been referred to that committee and its jurisdiction is there by established.

In the Senate Mr. Sewall presented a resolution of the New Jersey Legislature in favor of the improvement of the entrance to New York Bay, at Sandy Hook.

Mr. Sherman reported favorably the House bill authorizing a National Academy of Design to receive and hold in trust funds for the promotion of science and other purposes. Passed.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the condition of several tribes of Indians, the territory tenure by which the lands in several reservations are held, the need of legislation to protect them, etc.

Mr. Vinton offered a resolution, directing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to contracts supplying beef cattle to Indians, was taken up. Mr. Vinton said he had the best of reason for believing the inquiry would be of great service.

Mr. Sherman objected to the passage of such a draft, not resolution without some specific action taken from it.

Mr. Vinton said he had no suspicion of impropriety on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioners of Indian Affairs. But the purpose was to ascertain the truth of reports that wrong had been committed by the Indians in the Indian Territory.

He promised that if the resolution went over for a week, he would either make a specific charge, or withdraw it. The resolution was accordingly postponed for a week.

At 1 o'clock the Senate went into secret session on the Consular Diplomatic Bill, the pending question being an amendment appropriating a quarter of a million dollars to carry out the provisions of the neutrality act.

FOREIGN.

ADVISING US ABOUT DYNAMITERS.

LONDON, June 12.—In the House of Commons to-day Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, Under-Secretary, stated that representations touching the use of firearms powers in regard to dynamiters had been addressed to the Government at Washington.

No reply had as yet been received.

ALBERT MEDAL AWARDED EARL.

LONDON, June 12.—The Albert medal, of the Society of Arts, which was recently awarded by the Society for eminent merit in promoting the art and manufactures, has this year been bestowed on the American engineer, Captain James H. Eads.

CONCLUDING THE DYNAMITERS.

DOVER, June 12.—The Daily Journal to-day publishes a long letter from John O'Leary, the well known Fenian, who is said to be the editor of "Irish People" and now residing in Paris. In the letter he criticizes the conduct of the British Government in regard to the Fenians, and in vindication of dynamiters and Invincibles, which his countrymen, both in Ireland and America, seized with trust. He says that it is but a passing craze, and warns the Irish Fenians to be on their guard against the Invincibles, whose policy is both impudent and criminal, in character, and if not abandoned at once will ruin the cause of Ireland. In conclusion he says that there are other men and other means by which to save Ireland.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.

DUBLIN, June 12.—In the Smythe case, informer Dohy testified that Dynamiter Dohy was the person who organized the Fenian Brotherhood at Dublin.

PRINCE VICTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

PARIS, June 12.—An ex-minister of the Empire said that Prince Victor's anniversary is paid by ten bonds per capita, each contributing four thousand francs.

VIENNA, June 12.—A duel with swords took place yesterday between Count Koenigsegg and Baron Rodice. Both were severely wounded.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 12.—Frank Howard, the Vermont postoffice robber, was captured last night near Conklingville, Saratoga County. He was found in the basement of a house, which he had been shot at six times. He said that he slept in the woods every night since his escape and had traveled on foot during the time over 500 miles. His left shoulder is injured from a revolver bullet, and he was shot in the head by a shotgun. He jumped from the house when being pursued to a train when bound for Weymouth to Windsor. Howard has proved himself a desperate character on several different occasions.

A PEACEMAKER DYING.

BUFFALO, June 12.—A. Ampleman, residing on Englewood avenue, quarreled with his wife, and, after a short struggle, stoned her. Her son, a neighbor, came to the rescue, when Ampleman struck him on the head with an ax. Burns is dying. Ampleman was arrested.

STUNGER AFAR Singularly Related.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, July 12.—During the heavy rain storm last night the dwelling house of Peter O'Brien was struck by lightning, and the entire building burst and struck the best part of a led in which they were sleeping. Five hundred dollars in money is said to have been burned.

BONES THIS INCLUDE the Shotgun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—The William Sprague mansion house on Young Orchard avenue, the property of the Union Company, was sold to day at auction to E. A. T. for $10,000. The house is in poor condition, but over 2,000 dollars were paid for it.

J. J. MCGARTHY, Licensed auctioneer. Old left at the Union Office will receive prompt attention. P. O. address Mr. Cornelius.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

CONDENSED NEWS.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—The Spring Committee deferred until Friday the examination of Merrick, counsel for the Star Case.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Dornheimer, the Senate bill extending the term of the act of August 8, 1862, to encourage the growth of foreign commerce between the United States and Europe—August 8, 1862, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Holman made a point of order against the Hennepin Canal clause, claiming that it should have been reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Mr. Stone replied that the message of the Senate, in other papers in the House, had been referred to that committee and its jurisdiction is there by established.

In the Senate Mr. Sewall presented a resolution of the New Jersey Legislature in favor of the improvement of the entrance to New York Bay, at Sandy Hook.

Mr. Sherman reported favorably the House bill authorizing a National Academy of Design to receive and hold in trust funds for the promotion of science and other purposes. Passed.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the condition of several tribes of Indians, the territory tenure by which the lands in several reservations are held, the need of legislation to protect them, etc.

Mr. Vinton offered a resolution, directing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to contracts supplying beef cattle to Indians, was taken up. Mr. Vinton said he had the best of reason for believing the inquiry would be of great service.

Mr. Sherman objected to the passage of such a draft, not resolution without some specific action taken from it.

Mr. Vinton said he had no suspicion of impropriety on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioners of Indian Affairs. But the purpose was to ascertain the truth of reports that wrong had been committed by the Indians in the Indian Territory.

He promised that if the resolution went over for a week, he would either make a specific charge, or withdraw it. The resolution was accordingly postponed for a week.

At 1 o'clock the Senate went into secret session on the Consular Diplomatic Bill, the pending question being an amendment appropriating a quarter of a million dollars to carry out the provisions of the neutrality act.

CONCLUDING THE DYNAMITERS.

DUBLIN, June 12.—The Daily Journal to-day publishes a long letter from John O'Leary, the well known Fenian, who is said to be the editor of "Irish People" and now residing in Paris. In the letter he criticizes the conduct of the British Government in regard to the Fenians, and in vindication of dynamiters and Invincibles, which his countrymen, both in Ireland and America, seized with trust. He says that it is but a passing craze, and warns the Irish Fenians to be on their guard against the Invincibles, whose policy is both impudent and criminal, in character, and if not abandoned at once will ruin the cause of Ireland. In conclusion he says that there are other men and other means by which to save Ireland.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.

DUBLIN, June 12.—In the Smythe case, informer Dohy testified that Dynamiter Dohy was the person who organized the Fenian Brotherhood at Dublin.

PRINCE VICTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

PARIS, June 12.—An ex-minister of the Empire said that Prince Victor's anniversary is paid by ten bonds per capita, each contributing four thousand francs.

VIENNA, June 12.—A duel with swords took place yesterday between Count Koenigsegg and Baron Rodice. Both were severely wounded.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 12.—Frank Howard, the Vermont postoffice robber, was captured last night near Conklingville, Saratoga County. He was found in the basement of a house, which he had been shot at six times. He said that he slept in the woods every night since his escape and had traveled on foot during the time over 500 miles. His left shoulder is injured from a revolver bullet, and he was shot in the head by a shotgun. He jumped from the house when being pursued to a train when bound for Weymouth to Windsor. Howard has proved himself a desperate character on several different occasions.

A PEACEMAKER DYING.

BUFFALO, June 12.—A. Ampleman, residing on Englewood avenue, quarreled with his wife, and, after a short struggle, stoned her. Her son, a neighbor, came to the rescue, when Ampleman struck him on the head with an ax. Burns is dying. Ampleman was arrested.

STUNGER AFAR Singularly Related.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, July 12.—During the heavy rain storm last night the dwelling house of Peter O'Brien was struck by lightning, and the entire building burst and struck the best part of a led in which they were sleeping. Five hundred dollars in money is said to have been burned.

BONES THIS INCLUDE the Shotgun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—The William Sprague mansion house on Young Orchard avenue, the property of the Union Company, was sold to day at auction to E. A. T. for $10,000. The house is in poor condition, but over 2,000 dollars were paid for it.

J. J. MCGARTHY, Licensed auctioneer. Old left at the Union Office will receive prompt attention. P. O. address Mr. Cornelius.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—The Spring Committee deferred until Friday the examination of Merrick, counsel for the Star Case.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Dornheimer, the Senate bill extending the term of the act of August 8, 1862, to encourage the growth of foreign commerce between the United States and Europe—August 8, 1862, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Holman made a point of order against the Hennepin Canal clause, claiming that it should have been reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Mr. Stone replied that the message of the Senate, in other papers in the House, had been referred to that committee and its jurisdiction is there by established.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the condition of several tribes of Indians, the territory tenure by which the lands in several reservations are held, the need of legislation to protect them, etc.

Mr. Vinton offered a resolution, directing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to contracts supplying beef cattle to Indians, was taken up. Mr. Vinton said he had the best of reason for believing the inquiry would be of great service.

Mr. Sherman objected to the passage of such a draft, not resolution without some specific action taken from it.

Mr. Vinton said he had no suspicion of impropriety on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioners of Indian Affairs. But the purpose was to ascertain the truth of reports that wrong had been committed by the Indians in the Indian Territory.

He promised that if the resolution went over for a week, he would either make a specific charge, or withdraw it. The resolution was accordingly postponed for a week.

At 1 o'clock the Senate went into secret session on the Consular Diplomatic Bill, the pending question being an amendment appropriating a quarter of a million dollars to carry out the provisions of the neutrality act.

CONCLUDING THE DYNAMITERS.

DUBLIN, June 12.—The Daily Journal to-day publishes a long letter from John O'Leary, the well known Fenian, who is said to be the editor of "Irish People" and now residing in Paris. In the letter he criticizes the conduct of the British Government in regard to the Fenians, and in vindication of dynamiters and Invincibles, which his countrymen, both in Ireland and America, seized with trust. He says that it is but a passing craze, and warns the Irish Fenians to be on their guard against the Invincibles, whose policy is both impudent and criminal, in character, and if not abandoned at once will ruin the cause of Ireland. In conclusion he says that there are other men and other means by which to save Ireland.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.

DUBLIN, June 12.—In the Smythe case, informer Dohy testified that Dynamiter Dohy was the person who organized the Fenian Brotherhood at Dublin.

PRINCE VICTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

PARIS, June 12.—An ex-minister of the Empire said that Prince Victor's anniversary is paid by ten bonds per capita, each contributing four thousand francs.

VIENNA, June 12.—A duel with swords took place yesterday between Count Koenigsegg and Baron Rodice. Both were severely wounded.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 12.—Frank Howard, the Vermont postoffice robber, was captured last night near Conklingville, Saratoga County. He was found in the basement of a house, which he had been shot at six times. He said that he slept in the woods every night since his escape and had traveled on foot during the time over 500 miles. His left shoulder is injured from a revolver bullet, and he was shot in the head by a shotgun. He jumped from the house when being pursued to a train when bound for Weymouth to Windsor. Howard has proved himself a desperate character on several different occasions.

A PEACEMAKER DYING.

BUFFALO, June 12.—A. Ampleman, residing on Englewood avenue, quarreled with his wife, and, after a short struggle, stoned her. Her son, a neighbor, came to the rescue, when Ampleman struck him on the head with an ax. Burns is dying. Ampleman was arrested.

STUNGER AFAR Singularly Related.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, July 12.—During the heavy rain storm last night the dwelling house of Peter O'Brien was struck by lightning, and the entire building burst and struck the best part of a led in which they were sleeping. Five hundred dollars in money is said to have been burned.

BONES THIS INCLUDE the Shotgun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—The William Sprague mansion house on Young Orchard avenue, the property of the Union Company, was sold to day at auction to E. A. T. for $10,000. The house is in poor condition, but over 2,000 dollars were paid for it.

J. J. MCGARTHY, Licensed auctioneer. Old left at the Union Office will receive prompt attention. P. O. address Mr. Cornelius.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—The Spring Committee deferred until Friday the examination of Merrick, counsel for the Star Case.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Dornheimer, the Senate bill extending the term of the act of August 8, 1862, to encourage the growth of foreign commerce between the United States and Europe—August 8, 1862, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Holman made a point of order against the Hennepin Canal clause, claiming that it should have been reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Mr. Stone replied that the message of the Senate, in other papers in the House, had been referred to that committee and its jurisdiction is there by established.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the condition of several tribes of Indians, the territory tenure by which the lands in several reservations are held, the need of legislation to protect them, etc.

Mr. Vinton offered a resolution, directing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to contracts supplying beef cattle to Indians, was taken up. Mr. Vinton said he had the best of reason for believing the inquiry would be of great service.

Mr. Sherman objected to the passage of such a draft, not resolution without some specific action taken from it.

Mr. Vinton said he had no suspicion of impropriety on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioners of Indian Affairs. But the purpose was to ascertain the truth of reports that wrong had been committed by the Indians in the Indian Territory.

He promised that if the resolution went over for a week, he would either make a specific charge, or withdraw it. The resolution was accordingly postponed for a week.

At 1 o'clock the Senate went into secret session on the Consular Diplomatic Bill, the pending question being an amendment appropriating a quarter of a million dollars to carry out the provisions of the neutrality act.

CONCLUDING THE DYNAMITERS.

DUBLIN, June 12.—The Daily Journal to-day publishes a long letter from John O'Leary, the well known Fenian, who is said to be the editor of "Irish People" and now residing in Paris. In the letter he criticizes the conduct of the British Government in regard to the Fenians, and in vindication of dynamiters and Invincibles, which his countrymen, both in Ireland and America, seized with trust. He says that it is but a passing craze, and warns the Irish Fenians to be on their guard against the Invincibles, whose policy is both impudent and criminal, in character, and if not abandoned at once will ruin the cause of Ireland. In conclusion he says that there are other men and other means by which to save Ireland.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.

DUBLIN, June 12.—In the Smythe case, informer Dohy testified that Dynamiter Dohy was the person who organized the Fenian Brotherhood at Dublin.

PRINCE VICTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

PARIS, June 12.—An ex-minister of the Empire said that Prince Victor's anniversary is paid by ten bonds per capita, each contributing four thousand francs.

VIENNA, June 12.—A duel with swords took place yesterday between Count Koenigsegg and Baron Rodice. Both were severely wounded.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 12.—Frank Howard, the Vermont postoffice robber, was captured last night near Conklingville, Saratoga County. He was found in the basement of a house, which he had been shot at six times. He said that he slept in the woods every night since his escape and had traveled on foot during the time over 500 miles. His left shoulder is injured from a revolver bullet, and he was shot in the head by a shotgun. He jumped from the house when being pursued to a train when bound for Weymouth to Windsor. Howard has proved himself a desperate character on several different occasions.

A PEACEMAKER DYING.

BUFFALO, June 12.—A. Ampleman, residing on Englewood avenue, quarreled with his wife, and, after a short struggle, stoned her. Her son, a neighbor, came to the rescue, when Ampleman struck him on the head with an ax. Burns is dying. Ampleman was arrested.

STUNGER AFAR Singularly Related.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, July 12.—During the heavy rain storm last night the dwelling house of Peter O'Brien was struck by lightning, and the entire building burst and struck the best part of a led in which they were sleeping. Five hundred dollars in money is said to have been burned.

BONES THIS INCLUDE the Shotgun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—The William Sprague mansion house on Young Orchard avenue, the property of the Union Company, was sold to day at auction to E. A. T. for $10,000. The house is in poor condition, but over 2,000 dollars were paid for it.

J. J. MCGARTHY, Licensed auctioneer. Old left at the Union Office will receive prompt attention. P. O. address Mr. Cornelius.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

A Reception for Logan.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The soldiers and sailors, residents of this city, held a meeting to-night and decided to tender Senator Logan the Republican candidate for Vice President, a grand reception at an early day.

BALTIMORE, June 13.—The Spring Committee deferred until Friday the examination of Merrick, counsel for the Star Case.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Dornheimer, the Senate bill extending the term of the act of August 8, 1862, to encourage the growth of foreign commerce between the United States and Europe—August 8, 1862, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Holman made a point of order against the Hennepin Canal clause, claiming that it should have been reported from the Committee on Railroads and Canals.

Mr. Stone replied that the message of the Senate, in other papers in the House, had been referred to that committee and its jurisdiction is there by established.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Indian Affairs to inquire into the condition of several tribes of Indians, the territory tenure by which the lands in several reservations are held, the need of legislation to protect them, etc.

Mr. Vinton offered a resolution, directing the Secretary of the Interior to furnish information as to contracts supplying beef cattle to Indians, was taken up. Mr. Vinton said he had the best of reason for believing the inquiry would be of great service.

Mr. Sherman objected to the passage of such a draft, not resolution without some specific action taken from it.

Mr. Vinton said he had no suspicion of impropriety on the part of the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioners of Indian Affairs. But the purpose was to ascertain the truth of reports that wrong had been committed by the Indians in the Indian Territory.

He promised that if the resolution went over for a week, he would either make a specific charge, or withdraw it. The resolution was accordingly postponed for a week.

At 1 o'clock the Senate went into secret session on the Consular Diplomatic Bill, the pending question being an amendment appropriating a quarter of a million dollars to carry out the provisions of the neutrality act.

CONCLUDING THE DYNAMITERS.

DUBLIN, June 12.—The Daily Journal to-day publishes a long letter from John O'Leary, the well known Fenian, who is said to be the editor of "Irish People" and now residing in Paris. In the letter he criticizes the conduct of the British Government in regard to the Fenians, and in vindication of dynamiters and Invincibles, which his countrymen, both in Ireland and America, seized with trust. He says that it is but a passing craze, and warns the Irish Fenians to be on their guard against the Invincibles, whose policy is both impudent and criminal, in character, and if not abandoned at once will ruin the cause of Ireland. In conclusion he says that there are other men and other means by which to save Ireland.

THE DAILY BULLETIN,

THURSDAY EVE, JUNE 12, 1884.

BOSHER & McCARTHY

Publishers and Proprietors.

To Whom Address All Communications

Now all the Dudes,
As they pass by,
Tell Young to make
Their plam high,
And say, "I know,
Means to say,
They're in the ring
And going to stay."

BUSINESS is improving.

The river is rising slowly.

CARLisle has decided at last to buy a fire engine.

BUSINESS is dull again this week in the Mayor's court.

The brick work on the Zweigart building is very nearly completed.

The blackberry crop in this neighborhood is reported to be an utter failure this season.

Hox. L. S. LUTTRELL, we are pleased to say, is considered a little better by his physician.

Don't forget the supper to-night. It will be the last opportunity you will have to attend.

The steamer Guiding Star will arrive next Sunday with an excursion party from Cincinnati.

The vocal and instrumental music at the concert to-night will be charming. Don't fail to be there.

A PENSION has been granted to Mrs. Fannie M. Campbell, widow of the late Henry C. Campbell of this city.

The Cooper building was dedicated last night. Mr. George R. Gill read an essay appropriate to the occasion.

The farmers in the Lewisburg precinct have about finished planting tobacco. An increased area will be cultivated this year.

The business of the furniture factory thus far has been as good as was expected, and the outlook is very encouraging.

The late rains have been of inestimable benefit to the crops in this vicinity. They are all looking well and promise a generous crop.

The residence of Mrs. Fannie Herin, at Salt Lick, was robbed by thieves, a few days ago. Considerable valuable property was taken.

AMONG a large stock of toilet articles at Phister's book store, we noticed Pear soap, an article noted in England for its pure ingredients. Try it.

The Dudes to do the clean thing with the Millersburg club, wiped out the score of Tuesday and played a new game yesterday. The game was won by the Mayboys by a score of seventeen to three.

Masonic.

Special meeting of Confidence Lodge No. 52, F. A. M., to-night, work in M. M. degree. All members of the fraternal invited.

S. P. CAMPBELL.

By general desire the supper and concert, at Cooper's new building, by the ladies of the M. E. Church, South, will be repeated this evening. The attendance last night was larger, and the occasion a thoroughly enjoyable one. The receipts, so far, amount to about $350.

There is an exhibition at Messrs. J. C. Pecor & Co.'s drug store an excellent portrait, in India ink, of the late Thomas Allen, of Augusta, who was killed by an accident on the Southern Railroad, about a year ago. It is the work of Mr. T. M. Fulton, and is a masterpiece.

At a meeting of the Washington Fire Company, held last night, several bids from contractors for the construction of the new opera house were opened by the building committee but it was decided that no report should be made until the arrival from Chicago of Mr. Coble, the architect.

OFFICERS of the Washington Fire company to serve the ensuing six months were elected as follows at a meeting held on the evening of the 11th inst:

President—J. M. C. Ballinger.
Vice President—Robert Frost.
Secretary—W. N. Raby.
Chief of Hose—W. N. Raby.
Messenger, Richard Rice.

A GENTLEMAN who passed along Third street, on Sunday, observed hogs rooting up the grass in the yards of the houses of Dr. Shackleford and Mr. David Hedges. At the residence of Dr. Strode, on the same street, an old sow was seen in the hall which had torn up part of the oil cloth that covered the floor. On Tuesday afternoon a sow and a brood of pigs entered the parlor at Mr. T. Y. Neblett's residence, and took possession of the apartment. Such occurrences as these are common in this city.

PERSONALS.

Mr. John Redmond, of Covington, is visiting his relatives in this city.

Col. John G. Hickman and Mr. W. P. Lareau have returned from their western trip.

Miss Nettie Orr, of Mayfield, is the guest of the family of Mr. Charles C. Dobyns.

Miss Jennie Saunders, of Parkersburg, W. Va., is visiting the family of Mr. Wm. Rhodes.

Miss Annie and Lizzie Rhodes, who have been attending school at Letton, returned home on Sunday.

Mr. O. B. Hallam, of Owen County, who is a candidate for Judge of the Superior court in this district, is in the city.

Miss Sallie Miller, of Beech Wood, W. Va., who has been visiting the Misses Burrows, of Forest avenue for several days, left for her home last evening.

Judge J. P. Harteson, who is a candidate for Congress in this district, is in the city. He is very much encouraged over his prospect of receiving the nomination.

LYONS' WOOD.

The marriage of Miss Delia Wood, daughter of Mr. Geo. T. Wood, to Mr. Madison Lyons, of Covington, took place at the residence of the bride's parents this morning, at ten o'clock. The earnest, beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Taylor, of the Christian Church, in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was followed by an elegant wedding breakfast which was heartily enjoyed by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons left by the train at noon for Covington, attended by the good wishes of all their friends. We extend to the bride and groom our congratulations and wish them a bright and happy future.

Sudden Death.

We announce with unfeigned regret the sudden death last night of Miss Lizzie Cox, at the residence of Mr. Joseph F. Broderick, in the lower part of the city. She retired to rest apparently in the enjoyment of her usual health and this morning was found dead in her bed. She had been a sufferer for some time past but not to an extent to excite the serious apprehensions of her friends. She was a daughter of the late Edward Cox and a sister of Mrs. Joseph F. Broderick, Mr. H. H. Cox and Mr. John Cox of this city. She was a sincere Christian, a useful member of the church and a kind and charitable woman whose death will be sincerely deplored by the entire community.

THE Southern Methodist Church building, on Second street, last week and this, has undergone a thorough cleaning and renovation, and will be re-opened for services by the pastor next Sabbath morning, at 11 a.m. The Sunday school of that church will meet at 6 o'clock a.m., D. R. Bullock, superintendent. No prayer meeting to-night in view of the house not being quite ready.

COUNTRY POINTS.

GLENVILLE.

Cabin Creek is very high. Gull Creek and its tributaries are looking well. If the rains continue much longer the wheat will be badly damaged.

Mr. John McNatt, manufacturer of the celebrated Gull Creek bacon, has a large stock on hand with the best results attached.

The farmers of this neighborhood are nearly setting out tobacco. There is a great area planted for many years.

THE CLOWN'S DEATH-MASK.

A POOR FELLOW whose Merriment Was Joined With Melancholy.

Kalpatri, who committed suicide in Paris the other day, was a pupil of Debussy, the great pianist. The French Kalpatri's great character was the Pierrot, or white-faced clown of French pantomime. "Nobility knows what that white-faced ready means," it was told a French journalist only yesterday. It is death, whose name is death, who kills him so quickly and completely than the living face. The slightest wrinkle or contraction of the face has a world of meaning. The most trifling change in the expression of a dead person figures a more poignant significance than the most violent grimace of the living. Pierrot has the face of the dead. If he whitens it, it is that the slightest play of features can exist in the dead face, and that watching the contraction of the dead person's features gives us. If our impressions are more violent it is because Pierrot is death—laughing, crying or surprised; that is, not the ordinary death's head with its fleshless skull, eyeless head and meaningless grin, but the head of death the moment after the soul has taken flight.

"I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid, and had to ring the curtains down. They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic. There never was a panic that did not start with a few individuals.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears. He was the victim of acute melancholia.

Let panic talk posters go to their own door and put up their signs and shut up their doors. What is there to gain by panic prediction more than to hold out the bugaboo isn't handled out?

There never was an unexpected business panic.

Plenty of men there are always who are ready, on the slightest excuse, to "fall" and claim their creditors.

— "I only tried it once," said the poor fellow, "but the people were afraid,

and had to ring the curtains down.

They thought I was drunk." And he burst into tears.

